

Madhubani Painting
Workshop
in Chandidih, Jharkhand
(Dec.25th-29th, 2016)

By: AVINASH KARN

Supported by: ARTREACH INDIA (org.), New Delhi

Kanjo Munda

My Life as an Artist: During workshops, Kanjo Munda had many times complained that her baby distracts her while she sit for painting. Sometimes chicken and goats also attack on colours and spread onto the floor. So she painted her unique experience in her painting.

Lalita Munda

Fish Market- This unique composition is impressive in many ways. Lalita has picked the contemporary subject as she used Rupees 2000 note, Fishes are equal to the size of human figures and hanged to the roof, fish seller is asking for the change money and there is depiction of traditional vegetable cutter, Hansu/panakhi.

Maini Munda

God Ploughing clouds: Maini Devi see clouds sometimes as it it was ploughed by God in the sky.

Nikita Toppo

Where is the Horizon: Nikita has always been fascinated by the idea of earth meeting the sky in the far off distance. so she painted a view that she'd be able to see horizon from the top of Qutub Minar, the tallest of all towers, as she believes.

Puja Munda

A tour with my grandpa - Puja, a talented daughter of Maini Devi, has a desire to give her Grandfather a world tour. she don't know if she could be able to do that, but painting her desire gave her immense satisfaction and ecstasy.

Sanjoti Bediya

Celebrating Nature : Sanjoti like festivals very much. She enjoy dance and celebrations performed as a rituals in Sarna Dharam (Sarna Religion). She often talks about the importance of nature and why we should save trees.

Seema Munda

Jhoola is my first Love: Seema love to swing. Her first work is to swing once she back from school. This painting shows how she is happy to be on swing

Tannu Toppo

My Daily Life - Tannu say, this is the first time I am thinking about myself such deeply because of painting. I have to do dozens of works and I never thought much about my responsibilities and painting gave me chances to see myself such closely.